The Welcome Home.

We may travel all over the world,
Ay, as far as the billows may roll,
Where they northward or southward are hurried.

Against ice-fields that girdle the pole:

We may wander wherever we list,
We may journey earth's confines
all o'er,

But the joy we cannot resist
Is the grasp of the hand at the
door.

For at length when our holiday's
past,
And we gladly return o'er the foam,

The one joy that's not least although last,

Is the hand-grip that welcomes us home!

There's a something electric, that thrills

The touch of the hands that we know,

Which nor absence—the longest—
ever kills,

Nor distance—where'er we may go.
It speaks from the heart to the heart

From earth's farthest—its utter-most shore:

We remember, though oceans apart,
The warm grasp of the hand at the
door.

For wherever our fortunes are
cast

Neath the heaven's cerulean
dome,

The joy that we look for at last
Is the hand grip that welcomes us home.

In the silence of African wilds
When sleep closes the traveller's
eyes

In a slumber, as soft as a child's,

The dear visions of home will arise.

But of all the best dreams of delight
That around him kind fancy can pour,

Far the happiest fiction of night
Is the grasp of the hand at the
door.

For wherever our fortunes are
cast

Neath the heaven's cerulean
dome,

The joy that we look for at last
Is the hand grip that wel-
comes us home.

In the silence of African wilds
When sleep closes the traveller's
eyes

In a slumber, as soft as a child's,

The dear visions of home will arise.

But of all the best dreams of delight
That around him kind fancy can
pour,

Far the happiest fiction of night
Is the grasp of the hand at the
door.

For wherever our fortunes are
cast

Neath the heaven's cerulean
dome,

The joy that we look for at last
Is the hand grip that wel-
comes us home.

But we need no long absence to show—

Ah, we need no wide distance to teach

That the dearest of all things below
Is the home-love in waiting for each—

Is the home that he cannot forget!
For his heart is not sound at the core,

Whose breast has not leapt when it met

The warm grasp of the hand at the
door.

Heat and cold we endured—storm and blast—

Waves we forded, and mountains we climb,

Are forgotten completely at last

In the hand grip that welcomes us home.

Though for long or for little we part,
Tried affection all count is above,
For you can't plumb the depths of a
heart,

You can't measure the leagues of a love.

Birth and beauty and riches are nought—

For birth, beauty, and riches in store

Never—never a welcome have bought Like the grasp of the hand at the
door.

Ah, how dear when our holiday's
past,

When we gladly return o'er
the loam,

The one joy that's not least although last—

The warm hand-grip that welcomes us home.

A nicely dressed young gentleman entered a barber shop in a somewhat retired portion of a Western city, a short time ago, for the purpose of getting shaved.
The tonsorial artist spit on the brush and proceeded to lather, when he was stopped by the horror-stricken customer, who inquired what he meant by spitting on his brush.

"Why," said the barber, "ain't you a gentleman?"

"Yes," replied the stranger.

"Well," said the barber, "that's the way we treat gentlemen; if a rough comes in, we just merely spit on his face."

The City Frauds—Nearly $20,000,000 Proved to be Stolen.

Great progress has been made during the past week in ferreting out the enormous frauds which have been committed upon the New York City Treasury, in tracing them directly to the perpetrators, and it is hoped, also, toward bringing the criminals to conviction, if not to punishment.
This is largely due to the energetic course pursued by Mr.
Charles O'Conor, and his associates, appointed by the Attorney-General of the State, and to the efficient labors of Mr.
Samuel J. Tilden. Mr. Tilden, who has been making an investigation of the records of the Broadway Bank, in which the plunderers made their deposits, has made an affidavit, giving the results of his investigations and setting forth a series of facts which fasten the charge of public robbery conclusively upon Wm.
M. Tweed and his associates.
The facts contained in the affidavit are condensed as follows by the Evening Post:

when the New York Printing Company, on June 7, 1870, three days earlier, collected fraudulent warrants of the same class to the amount of $384,395 10, the company at once gave its cheque to William M. Tweed for $104,333.
64, which he deposited to his own credit the next day.

In coincidence with the above statement the Joint Committee of Aldermen, Supervisors and Citizens, upon the charges of fraud against certain city officials, made their report on Friday, in which they state that they have reached the following conclusions:

1. The debt of our city is doubling every two years.

2. $3,200,000 have been paid for repairs of armories and drill-rooms, the actual cost of which was less than $250,000.

3. Over $11,000,000 have been charged for outlays on an unfinished Court House, for which building completed an honest estimate of real cost would be less than $3,000,000.

4. Safes, carpets, furniture, cabinet-work, painting, plumbing,
gas and plastering have cost $7, 289,466 81, which are valued by competent persons, after a careful examination, at $624,180 40.

5. $460,000 have been paid for $48,000 worth of lumber.

6. The printing, advertising, stationery, &c., of the city and county have cost in two years and eight months $7,168,212 23.

7. A large number of persons are on the pay-rolls of the city whose services are neither rendered nor required.

8. Figures upon warrants and vouchers have been fraudulently altered, and payments have repeatedly been made on forged indorsements.

With these facts before them, our Committee are compelled to report to you, that in their judgment, frauds and robberies of the most infamous character have been committed with the connivance and co-operation of some of the officials who were appointed to guard the interests of the people.

The condition of the city and county finances, as shown by these investigations, has served to destroy all confidence in the management of the present city officials.

On the basis of the facts stated in Mr. Tilden's affidavit, suit has been brought by the Attorney-General, in the name of the people of the State, against Wm. M.
Tweed, Elbert A. Woodward,
James H. Ingersoll and Andrew J. Garvey, to be tried in the county of Albany. On Friday last, Sheriff Brennan, accompanied by Mr. Jarvis, the "Order of Arrest" clerk, and Mr. Jay Gould, entered the office of Tweed.
They remained with closed doors till a late hour in the afternoon, when Sheriff Brennan and Mr.
Jarvis appeared, and it was stated that the order of arrest issued the previous day by Mr. Justice Learned had been served upon Tweed and that he had given bail in the sum of $1,000,000. The following are the bondsmen: Jay Gould, president of the Erie Railway company, justified in $1,000, 000 ($400,000 real and $600,000 personal). Benjamin P. Fairchild, auctioneer, justified in $300,000, real. Terence Farley, builder, $300,000, real. Hugh J.
Hastings, publisher and editor,
$100,000, personal, and Bernard Kelly, contractor, $300,000, real and personal. Tweed, it is stated, treated his arrest with the same indifference that he has manifested throughout the whole proceedings.

For several days previous to his arrest, Tweed was engaged in transferring his property, real and personal, to his son and other parties, to the

The Democratic Address.

A few days since, Thos. Bragg, A. S. Merrimon, M. A. Bledsoe, R. H. Battle, Jr., J. Q. Decarter, C. M. Busbee, W. R. Cox, and J. J. Litchford, the Central Executive Committee of the Democratic party, met at Raleigh and issued an address to the people of North Carolina. This committee acknowledge that the people of the State are adverse to amending their Constitution by a Convention of the people, and therefore urge the necessity of amendments being made in the only other way—by Legislative enactment, and ask the people to give a free expression of their wishes as to such amendments as they desire. The committee propose the following amendments:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS SUGGESTED.

In the judgment of the Executive Committee, the Constitution should at once be amended in the following particulars:

Section 6 of Article 1 should be so amended as to strike out all thereof that provides the inviolability of the public debt.

Section 2 of Article 2 should be so amended as to provide that the Legislature shall meet regularly every two years, instead of every year, and it should be provided that the members of the Legislature shall receive but $3 per day and 10 cents mileage, and such pay for no longer a period than 100 days during their term of office.

The office of Superintendent of Public Works should be abolished.

Article 3, Section 1, should be so amended as the Governor and other officers, therein mentioned, shall hold their offices but two years, instead of four years, as now provided.

Section 10 of Article 3 should be so amended as to provide that the Governor shall nominate the officers therein mentioned, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, unless otherwise provided by law.

Article 4 should be so amended as to strike out sections 2 and 3, thus abolishing the Code Commission.

Section 4 of this article should be stricken out, leaving the Legislature to regulate the number and style of Courts. Instead of five Supreme Court Judges, and twelve Superior Court Judges, as now provided, there should be but three Supreme Court and eight Superior Court Judges, who shall be elected every eight years. Sections 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 26, 27, 28, 31 and 33 of article 4 should be stricken out, and it should be provided that the judicial powers of the State shall be vested in one Supreme Court and in such Superior Courts and inferior Courts as the General Assembly may establish.

Section 4 of article 5 should be stricken out, thus striking out the mortgage provision on all the property of the State for the interest of the public debt.

Section 6 of article 5, should be so amended as to enlarge the class of exemptions so as to include "stock and provisions."

Article 6, section 5, should be so amended as to provide that the persons therein rendered ineligible for office shall likewise be rendered incompetent to vote.

Article 7 should be abolished, except section 13, thus sweeping away the Township system and leaving the matter to the Legislature.

Article 10 should be so amended as to provide that the Homestead provisions should apply to all debts alike, and it should be in fee—that is absolute.

Article 11, section 10, should be so amended as to provide that its benefits shall extend only to indigent persons.

Article 14, section 7, should be so amended as to provide that no person shall hold any lucrative office under this State while he holds an office under the United States.

See 5 of Article 2 should be so amended as to abolish the provision for taking a census of the State in 1875, and every ten years thereafter. We would suggest as a further amendment, that See. 5 of Art. 9 be so amended as to provide that the University shall be under the control of the General Assembly, who shall elect a Board of Trustees, of which the Governor shall be ex officio Chairman, and Sections 13 and 14 of that Article should be stricken out.

Other amendments ought to be made, but those suggested would relieve the people from the burdensome and extravagant State government that now swallows up their earnings, and fastens upon them a State debt, which they cannot pay, but of which they may easily so compromise and adjust the honest portion, as will reduce it within manageable limits.

From reading the proposed amendments, it will be seen that the first proposes to put the public debt in a condition that the Legislature will have the power to repudiate it, if it should think necessary.

We knew that conservatives were great hands at taking the benefit of the Bankrupt act, and hiding from their debts behind the Homestead law, but surely with the valuable works of internal improvement in North Carolina, we ought not to act in a way to even create a suspicion that we desired to repudiate our debts. If we are not able to pay our debts in cash now, we have good property and can pay them, and for the eternal grumbling of the democratic party, we would be more able to-day than what we are.

The next amendment is one of the tit-bits of the Conservative Democratic party, and we guess there will be little hope of that being submitted to the people by the Legislature, from the fact that those same gentlemen tried their hands at that last winter, and, if our memory is right, they took $5 per day, and 20 cents per mile mileage, and were in session 100 days.

The next proposition is to abolish the office of Superintendent of Public Works. Our opinion is that it would be better to define his duties, and give him charge of all the works of Internal Improvement in the State, as was intended by the framers of the Constitution, and then it would not be necessary to do as the democratic legislature did—appoint two new officers to look after the interests of the State, in the appointment of Directors for our railroads.

We can see no benefit, but in increased expenses to the tax payers, in electing the Governor and other officers every two years, instead of four, as now provided by law.

The amendments to the fourth article are the ones that the committee desire to get at more, perhaps, than any other—they desire that the regulations of the number and style of the courts may be placed in the hands of the Legislature; they no doubt desire to see the old system of Courts re-established, so that they can again return to a practice in a way that will not require them to work up their cases as now. The present system is becoming generally understood by the people—old foggies excepted—and as generally liked, this is an age of progress, and our watchword should be "forward!" Our system of Courts work well, and we do not believe the people desire them changed.

This committee recommends abolishing the Township system. We see no good reason for this, it is working very well here now. It has worked well in nearly every State in the Union for a long number of years. Few men would vote to abolish it.

The other amendments proposed like these mentioned here, amount to but little, and as a whole, show that our Constitution is not as objectionable as the C. D. K. K. party would attempt to make the people believe. The address says:

CRIME AND OUTRAGE.

We deem it worth while to notice in this address, that wicked and interested persons—unprincipled and violent radical partisans in and out of this State—for sinister purposes, have sought to produce the false impression that the Democratic Conservative party have and do commit at and encourage the perpetration of crime and outrage.

To this detestable end they have, wherever they could, prostituted the press, legislative and judicial proceedings, and resorted to every means within their power. Such imputation is not only groundless, false and scandalous, but infamous to the last degree, and betrays a spirit of wickedness, we venture to assert, without a parallel in political warfare.

The party which we represent has always and persistently condemned crime, by whomsoever perpetrated, and has repeatedly gone out of the usual political course to denounce it, and urge upon the people the high importance of peace and good order, and the duty of every good citizen to be active and zealous in bringing offenders to justice.

The course pursued by the unworthy persons to whom we refer is deeply to be deplored by all good men of every political party. It is not only ignoble, but it tends to destroy the moral and legitimate effect of the voice of the press, legislative action and judicial determination, for the suppression of crime—their constant effort is to turn such matters to political advantage by giving them a political turn, and thus they produce the almost inevitable conviction on the minds of disinterested observers that the purpose of the press, the Legislature and Courts, is not to suppress crime and outrage, but to manufacture political capital and advantage from the crimes of offenders, and thus engender bitter feelings among their opponents, destroying confidence in the Courts and bringing them into disgrace and contempt.

We again urge our friends to set their faces against violence and lawlessness of all kinds, and to be especially active in preventing secret outrages by disguised persons.

To this part of the address, we can but reply, if it is true as you say, then we do not know who compose your party. Does your party recognize the speakers who have addressed the people in opposition to the Republican party, and who have claimed to be Conservative Democrats, Conservatives, and on some occasions Democrats? Is the Raleigh Sentinel, Southern Home, Wilmington Journal, and other papers claiming to be democratic and conservative papers, organs of your party? Have they been speaking as become men of like faith and order? or does your committee propose a "new departure?" We confess that if what you say is true that your party has always condemned crime, (Kukluxing) then we know nothing of your party, and really think that your party is only on the paper that you issued. We have seldom heard a conservative speaker address the people within the last twelve months, who has not apologized for the outrages of the Kuklux. We think when one apologizes for a crime, that his denouncing it amounts to little, if anything. Our opinion is, that the Democratic party speakers and press, have encouraged crime, and that the records will show it.

The remainder of this address is devoted to discussing "National Politics," "corruption and extravagance and usurpation," "Source of Public Evils"—the "Higher Law of the Republican party," &c., &c., all thoughtful themes, and from which the committee, no doubt, drew but little consolation, as it no doubt felt while penning the address, that it "was wasting its sweetness on a desert air;" that the party it represented had long since gone up salt river; that so soon as the present Legislature adjourned, that Conservative rule in North Carolina must end. The conservative party has been weighed in the balances, by the people, and found wanting; and as the people of North Carolina are free men, they will consign to the shade of oblivion the Conservative Democratic Kuklux party.

A young man from the country was in Town last Monday, and taking on too much of the over joyful, was not able to ride home, he left his Photograph in the mud near the Post Office. Kind friends assisted him, and the last we saw of him he was being carried off in dead hog style.

We are reliably informed that an unmarried woman, (we suppress names) give birth to a boy child, in this county, a few days since and upon the breast or abdomen of the child there was a well defined protuberance representing a disguised head of a Ku Klux, with horns some two inches long. This should be a warning to ladies who sympathise with the Ku Klux, as no one knows what will happen.

Several disgusted Ku Klux have made statements this week, of their connection with the order, and ask to be excused. One man swears that he was sworn in by a Methodist circuit rider who told him, that R. A. Shotwell, was chief of Rutherford county; Plato Durham, chief of Cleveland county; J. Banks Lyles, chief of Spartanburg county, South Carolina; Josiah Turner, Grand chief of North Carolina; Gen. Wade Hampton, Grand chief of South Carolina; Gen. N. B. Forrest, Grand Cyclops of the Southern States, and Gen. Frank Blair, Grand Cyclops, of the United States.

Walton, of Burke county; R. L. Patterson, of Caldwell county; Capt. W. F. Craig, of McDowell county, directors on the Western North Carolina Railroad for the Eastern Division, and D. M. Furches of Iredell, State proxy. The Stock holders elected N. W. Woodfin of Buncombe, Dr. J. R. Ellis of Catawba, John I. Shaver of Rowan, S. H. Fleming, of McDowell, directors on the part of the stock holders. The Directors elected Dr. Howerton, President. We believe not more than two thirds of the above directors are democrats.

SAD AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn from a private letter received from Rutherford College, that Willie, a little son of Rev. Mr. Abernethy, shot his brother Gorman on last Thursday about 3 o'clock, and that he died the same evening about 8 o'clock. It is supposed that Willie was trying to scare his brother with the gun, and put a new cap on it, not knowing that it was loaded, and snapped it, when unfortunately it was charged. Gorman was about 14 years old. We sympathize with President Abernethy in this sad bereavement, and it should be taken as a warning to those who allow children to handle fire-arms.

Republican Meeting.

At a meeting of a portion of the Republicans of Rutherford county, at the Court House in Rutherfordton on Monday, the 6th inst.

On motion the meeting was called to order, by appointing E. Whisnant, Esq., Chairman, and requesting J. H. Bradley, Esq., to act as Secretary.

The object of the meeting was explained by J. B. Carpenter, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of the county, who introduced the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, to wit:

WHEREAS, The evidence taken before the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, in the impeachment trial of Governor Holden, before the joint select committee of Congress, in the late trials before the U. S. Circuit Court at Raleigh, and in the examination before the U. S. Commissioners at various times and places, shows beyond all question the startling and disgraceful fact, that a secret conspiracy against the lives and liberties of the citizens popularly known as the Ku Klux Klan, is organized, and in operation in North Carolina, comprising many thousand dangerous and lawless men. And,

WHEREAS, It further appears that many good and peaceable citizens of the State have been taken from their houses at night and brutally murdered by said Klan, while hundreds have been cruelly scourged, and nameless outrages committed upon others, both male and female. And,

WHEREAS, By disguises worn, by falsehood and perjury, by threats of violence, and the inspiring of terror upon the people, these conspirators have set at defiance the State authority and compelled the Federal authority to again intervene in our affairs for the protection of life and liberty. And,

WHEREAS, The evidence proves that Hamilton C. Jones, and it has been affirmed, not denied, that Geo. M. Whiteside, State Senators, and Lee M. McAfee and F. N. Strudwick, Representatives in the State Legislature, and other members and officers of the Legislature, are members among the conspirators, murderers and felons above named, and have participated in, ordered or sanctioned these horrible crimes; therefore,

Resolved, That the good citizens of the county of Rutherford do most earnestly petition and pray the respective House of the General Assembly of the State to promptly and diligently inquire into the facts and to expel the said Hamilton C. Jones, G. M. Whiteside, Lee M. McAfee, F. N. Strudwick, and any other members or officers of either House of the Legislature who may be found to be members or participants in the said dangerous and disgraceful conspiracy against the lives and liberties of the citizens of the State.

Guardian Angels.

BY REV. T. P. BRIGGS.

Let us not forget the record,
Left by Jesus, now on high,
How his little ones are guarded
By the angels from the sky.

When the wicked try to injure Any who has Christ within,
Swift the angels fly to witness,
And condemn this work of sin.

Better had that evil spirit
Never known the light of day,
Than to turn the lambs of Jesus
From his fold of grace away.

Little children, trust in Jesus;
Always promptly do the right;
He will save you, he will guide you
By his angels pure and bright.

When he calls you home to glory,
Angels shall your escort be;
Louder than ten thousand thunders
They will shout your victory.

Yes, they'll shout your glorious triumph
Through the Lamb who once was slain,
"Glory, honor, might, dominion,"
From their lips shall Jesus gain.

The Burning of Moscow.

It was the 16th of September, 1812. At midnight Napoleon, in utter exhaustion of body and mind, retired to rest. Suddenly the cry of "fire" resounded through the streets. Far off in the immense volumes of billowy smoke, pierced with flame, were rolling up into the stormy sky. Loud explosions of bursting shells and upheaving mines scattered death and dismay around. Suddenly the thunders of an earthquake were heard in another direction. A score of buildings were thrown into the air. Flaming projectiles of the most combustible and unquenchable material were scattered in all directions, and a new volcano of smoke and flame commenced its ravages. Earthquake succeeded earthquake and volcano succeeded volcano. The demon of the storm seemed to exult in his high carnival of destruction. The flames were swept in all directions. The shower of fire descended upon all the dwellings and all the streets. Mines were sprung, shells burst. Cannons were discharged, wagons of powder and magazines blew up, and in a few hours of indescribable confusion and dismay, the whole vast city was wrapped in one wild ocean of flame. The French soldiers shot the incendiaries, bayoneted them, tossed them into the flames, but still like demons they plied their work. Napoleon awoke early in the morning and looked out upon the flames, which were sweeping through all parts of the city. For the first time in his life, he appeared excessively agitated. His far-reaching mind apprehended at a glance, the measurelessness of the calamity which was impending. He hurriedly paced his apartment; dictated hasty orders, and from his window, anxiously watched the progress of the fire. The Kremlin was surrounded with gardens and shrubbery, and seemed for a time to afford shelter from the flames; but mines of powder were in its vaults with various combustibles arranged to communicate the fire. As Napoleon gazed upon the conflagration he exclaimed, "what a frightful spectacle! Such a number of palaces! The people are genuine Scythians." "Not even the fiction of the burning of Troy," said Napoleon afterward, "though heightened by all the powers of poetry, could have equaled the reality of the destruction of Moscow."

During the whole of the 17th, and of the ensuing night, the gale increased in severity, and the fire raged with unabated violence. The city now seemed but the almost boundless crater of an indistinguishable volcano. Various colored flames shot up to an immense height in the air; explosions of powder, saltpeter and brandy deafened the ear; projectiles of iron, and stone, and burning rafters, were hurled far off into the surrounding plain, crushing many in their fall. Multitudes encircled by the flames in the narrow street were miserably burned to death. The scene of confusion and dismay has probably never been equaled. The soldiers stifled with smoke, singed with flames and lost in the streets of the burning city, fled hither and thither, before a foe whom they were unable even to attack. They were often seen staggering beneath immense packages of treasure, which they were frequently compelled to abandon to effect their escape. Miserable women were seen carrying one or two children on their shoulders, and dragging others by the hand, attempting, often in vain, to flee from these accumulating horrors. Old men, with beards singed by the fire, crept slowly and feebly along, and in many cases were overtaken and destroyed by the coils of flame that pursued them. Napoleon was indefatigable in his exertions for the rescue of his soldiers and the remaining inhabitants.

At length it was announced that the Kremlin was on fire. The flames so encircled it that escape seemed almost impossible. The fire was already consuming the gates of the citadel. It was not until after a long search that a postern could be found through which the imperial escort could pass. Blinded by cinders and smothered with heat and smoke, they pressed along on foot, till they came to a roaring sea of fire, which presented apparently an impassable barrier. At last a narrow, crooked, diverging street was found blazing in various parts, and often overreached with flame. It was an outlet which despair alone could enter. Yet into this formidable pass Napoleon and his companions were necessarily impelled. With burning fragments falling around, and blazing cinders showered upon them, they toiled along almost blinded and suffocated with heat and smoke.

At length the guide lost his way, and stopped in utter bewilderment. All now gave themselves up for lost. It was remarkable that, in this terrible hour, Napoleon was perfectly calm and self-possessed. Just then they caught a glimpse of Marshal Davoust, who, with a company of soldiers, was in search of the Emperor. The Marshal had signified his determination to rescue the hope of France or perish in the attempt. Napoleon affectionately embraced the devoted Prince. They soon encountered, in the blazing streets, a convoy of gunpowder, along which they were compelled to pass while flaming cinders are falling around. The energies of Napoleon's mind were so disciplined for the occasion that not the slightest indication of alarm escaped him. They soon emerged from the walls of the city, and Napoleon retired to the castle of Petrovskoi, about three miles from the burning metropolis. The Emperor, as he looked back on the city, gloomily remarked: "This forebodes no common calamity." "It was," said he, years afterward, "the spectacle of a sea and billows of fire, a sky and clouds of flame, mountains of red, rolling flames, like immense waves of the sea, alternately bursting forth and elevating themselves to skies of fire, and then sinking into the ocean of flame below. Ah, it was the most grand, the most sublime, the most terrific sight the world ever beheld."

The fire began slowly to decrease on the 9th for want of fuel. "Palaces and temples," says Karmanzio, "monuments of art and miracles of luxury, remains of ages long since past and the creations of yesterday, the tombs of remotest ancestry and the cradles of children of the rising generation, were indiscriminately destroyed. Nothing was left of Moscow save the remembrance of its former grandeur. The French army was now encamped in the open fields around the smoldering city. Their bivouacs presented the strangest spectacle which had ever been witnessed.

Immense fires were blazing, fed by the fragments of the most costly furniture of satin wood and mahogany. The soldiers were sheltered from the piercing winds by tents reared from the drapery of regal palaces. Superb armchairs and sofas, in the richest upholstery of imperial purple and crimson velvet afforded seats and lounges for all. Chashmore shawls, Siberian fans, pearls and gems of Persia and India, were strewn over the ground in wild confusion. In the midst of all these wrecks of boundless opulence, the soldiers were famishing.

A son of George Johnson, who resides near Versailles, Ind., was left alone by his mother the other day while she was attending to some work in another part of the house. On her return she found that the child had fallen into a tub of water and drowned.

PACKED JURIES.—Much has been said in Democratic newspapers about the juries being packed in the recent U. S. Court held in this city. If packed in juries produces the effect of making criminals confess, then it would be well to continue the packing system, for it is notorious that many made confessions, and waived a trial—and all who were tried and convicted, have since confessed their guilt. We learn from reliable authority, that Randolph A. Shotwell confessed before he entered the walls of the Albany prison, and intimated that he could make revelations which would startle the public—as there are, (or was) men belonging to the Klan not now even suspicioned. We look, at no distant day, for this young man Shotwell to make, and make a clean breast.

An Irishman took a contract to dig a public well. When he had dug about 25 feet down, he came one morning and found it caved in—filled nearly to the top. Pat looked cautiously around and saw that no person was near, then took off his hat and coat, hung them on the windlass, crawled into some bushes and waited events. In a short time the citizens discovered that the well had caved in, and seeing Pat's hat and coat on the windlass they supposed he was at the bottom of the excavation. Only a few hours of brisk digging cleared loose earth from the well. Just as the eager citizens had reached the bottom, and wondered where the body was, Pat came out of the bushes, and good naturally thanked them for relieving him of a sorry job. Some of the tired niggers were disgusted, but the joke was too good to allow anything more than a hearty laugh, which soon followed.

CHICKENS BY STEAM.—The Savannah, Georgia News is responsible for the following: Among the entries made yesterday for exhibition at the fair of the Industrial Association is a patent incubator, for the purpose of hatching chickens. During the fair the incubator will improve the shining hours to the extent of hatching out five hundred chickens a day. Attached to the machine is an artificial mother, which when the chickens are once fairly hatched assumes control of the brood, and proceeds to exercise the maternal functions after the most approved style.

Among the frauds just unearthed in New York is found the payment of $60,000 for a single copy of the Bible for the use of the Board of Aldermen. It seems an order made by the Board for a copy was construed, for the purpose of making a job for somebody, into an order to have a special (single) copy printed; and it was done accordingly, and was a fat take, judging from the price charged.

Fish have great tenacity of life. It is believed that the carp has attained the age of 120, and the pike a still greater age. A pike was caught in a lake in South Germany, in 1491, on which was found a ring bearing this inscription: "I am the fish which was first of all put into this lake by the hands of the Governor of the Universe, Frederic II., 5th of October, 1280." It weighed 350 pounds, and was nineteen feet long.

RICHEST MEN.—The honor of being the richest man in the United States lies between William B. Astor, Cornelius Vanderbilt and A. T. Stewart. Probably neither of these gentlemen can tell within ten millions what he is worth, and there is not supposed to be so much difference between them. Sixty millions is a medium estimate of the wealth of either of the three.

FACTS IN HUMAN LIFE.—There are about 3,064 languages spoken in the world and its inhabitants profess more than 1,000 religions. The number of men is about equal to the number of women. The average of human life is about 333 years. One quarter die previous to the age of 7 years, one half before reaching 17, and those who pass this age enjoy a felicity refused to one half of the human species. To every 1,000 persons, only 1 reaches 100 years of life; to every 100, only 6 reach the age of 65; not more than 1 in 500 lives to 80 years of age. There are on earth 1,000,000,000 inhabitants, and of these 33,333,333 die every year, 91,624 every minute, or one every second. The married are longer lived than the single, and above all, those who observe a sober and industrious conduct. Tall men live longer than short ones. Women have more chances of life in their being 50 years of age than men, but have but fewer afterwards. The number of marriages is in the proportion of 75 to every 1,000 individuals. Marriages are more frequent after the equinoxes than during the months of June and December. Those born in the spring are generally more robust than others. Births and deaths are more frequent by night than by day. The number of men capable of bearing arms is calculated at one fourth of the population.
